BRIAN'S EYE ON ENTERTAINMENT

The Lion King rated PG *****

This is a remake, live version based on the old animated Disney film. Simba, a young lion cub, tries to prove to his father that he is as brave as his father. He gets in trouble several times. His father dies and Simba feels he is to blame. His bad uncle convinces him to leave home. After spending some time with some unlikely friends he realizes he needs to return home to save the Pride Lands. The moral, life lesson of this movie is that bullies are everywhere. Running away doesn't fix these problems. You need to know how to deal with them and pay attention to your own responsibilities. The music is amazing too. You will love this movie.
